Preparing a Research Plan

One key part of the application process is your research plan, and we expect you to prepare it.

Please use the following format for the research plan. It should be about a 4-page plan (about 2000 words in English) and typed.

Introduction: Why do you want to do this research?

Short literature review: Some key past research including citations.

Research questions: Your possible research question or questions.

Methods: How might you do the research (interviews, surveys, observations, document analysis, etc.)?

Possible significance: Why is this research important?

References: What are some of your sources? (Use a format you are used to, such as APA, Chicago, and MLA.)

Your possible 3-year study plan: How do you think you will be spending your 3 years during the doctoral program? Write about each semester (such as reading on the topic, doing interviews, analyzing, etc.)
