問1 Answer the following question.

Write approximately 400 words in English. (100 点)

Describe English language use in the Kerala, India context where Malayalam is the predominant language. What are the local societal, linguistic, educational, and cultural forces that shape English use in this part of India? How does this differ from other global contexts where English is used as a second or foreign language?

問2 Answer the following two questions in English [(1)(2)].

Write approximately 200 words for each question. (100 点)

- (1) Code-switching among people who use two or more languages in a multilingual context is a linguistic phenomenon that is often perceived as a deficit in spoken interaction. Do you view codeswitching as an example of language failure, or as a skillful crafting of language use based on the realities of how meaning is shared between people in contexts where more than one language is used? Define codeswitching as it relates to your research interests and describe the various ways in which people engage in codeswitching. (50 点)

- (2) Discuss the role of English as a lingua franca in the modern world focusing on its impact on global communication, culture, and education. What are the benefits and challenges of having English as a global lingua franca? (50 点)
